

ANOTHER WAR HAS STARTED

Rotten Fruit and Vegetables Put in Class With Bad Eggs By the State.

CIRCULARS BEING SENT OUT

Are Being Received By Some Local Farmers, Gardeners and Hucksters.

The war on bad eggs is not the only campaign that is to be waged by the state.

Seymour dealers are now exercising great care in the quality of eggs they purchase and have in their establishments and Jackson county farmers have been duly warned against bringing to market eggs that are not fresh from the factory and will stand the test of candling.

Now the war is to begin on rotten fruit and vegetables and local dealers and farmers have begun to receive interesting communications from H. E. Barnard, state food and drug commissioner. That official is now sending out large numbers of circular letters to farmers, gardeners and hucksters over the state calling attention to the provisions of the pure food law prohibiting the sale of decomposed fruit and vegetables.

The circular says:
"The attention of farmers, gardeners, hucksters and other persons producing or dealing in fruits and vegetables is called to Sec. 2 of the pure food law, which prohibits the sale of food which consists in any proportion of decomposed, putrid or rotten vegetable substances, whether manufactured or not. This section plainly holds the farmer or merchant who sells unsound fruit such as apples, peaches and small fruits, tomatoes, melons and vegetables of every description, liable for violation of the pure food law. It applies with equal force to the farmer who sells his tomatoes, corn or fruit to the canning factory as to the commission man or retail merchant.

"County, city and town health officers, state food inspectors and all other officers whose duty it is to enforce the pure food and sanitary food laws, will be governed by this notice in regulating the sale of fruits and vegetables."

International S. S. Convention.

The International Sunday School convention has just closed its triennial sessions at San Francisco. The following officers were elected: V. W. Hartshorn of Boston was chosen president; A. D. Mason, Memphis, Tenn., recording secretary; and Andrew Stevenson, Chicago, treasurer. The next meeting will be held in Chicago in 1914.

HUNTERS WAITING

For Saturday When the Squirrel
Law Will Be Out.

The man who loves to take a shot at the frisky squirrel can do it Saturday without having to keep his eyes rolling around in all directions like a searchlight, keeping watch for deputy game wardens. On July 1 the squirrel law will be out and the hunter will be at liberty to shoot the little animals anywhere the land owner does not object.

Of course it isn't wise to neglect the hunter's license for you can't tell when an employee of the state will be along and ask you to show it and it is an expensive proposition to be caught violating the fish and game laws.

Squirrels are said to be unusually plentiful in many sections this year which will make the sport above the average. One enthusiastic Seymour man who has been out prospecting claims that down in the hills in the edge of Washington county he found the squirrels hanging to the limbs of trees as thick as hickory nuts. It is barely possible they may not seem so numerous when he gets back to the place with his artillery.

Guns are being cleaned up and polished all over the county and Saturday they will begin to crack in every direction. There also seems to be a very large number of young rabbits this year. They gather in the roads as one drives by and evidence a very friendly and sociable disposition.

NEW WHEAT

Reached the Local Market This Afternoon.

The first new wheat of the season reached the local market this afternoon and the price opened at 82 cents.

E. C. Bollinger began hauling to the Blish mills from his place just east of the city. The wheat graded No. 2 and weighed 59 pounds to the bushel. The Hodapp mills received several loads from Gus Hackman's farm west of the city. It was of very good quality and the yield was reported good. R. J. Barbour began threshing this afternoon at his Chestnut Ridge farm. He has a field which is expected to yield at least 27 bushels to the acre.

MARRIED.

KRAUSS-RODMAN.

Charles Krauss of Indianapolis and Miss Katie Rodman of Brownstown were married this afternoon in the county clerk's office by Rev. Mr. Schneider. They came to Seymour this afternoon and left for Indianapolis for future residence.

Her husband died April, 1907 and since that time she has been in poor health. Three sons and one daughter survive, Z. F. and Grant of New Castle, Albert of this city, and Mrs. George Sutton of Freetown. The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from Gorbett's chapel.

THE SALARIES

Of Local Rural Carriers Will Be Increased.

Beginning Saturday July 1, the eight rural carriers at the Seymour postoffice will each have $100 more a year to put in the bank or spend. At the last regular session of congress the pay of rural carriers was increased from $900 to $1,000 where the routes are 25 miles or more in length. All of the routes out of the local office are up to the standard in length. All of the eight routes with one exception carry an average of over 5,000 pieces of mail a month. Some of them carry as high of 7,000.

In Trouble Again.

Leroy Bentley is in trouble again. Monday evening he was arrested on the charge of robbing the money drawer at the J. G. Loertz bakery Monday noon of about two dollars. He is in jail and will be given a hearing when deputy prosecutor Albert Kasting, who is out of the city, returns. The boy was released from jail recently after serving a term for drawing a deadly weapon on his brother.

TWO KENTUCKIANS TAKEN FROM A CAR

And Questioned By Seymour Officers.

—Connection With Columbus
Robbery Suspected.

MEN GIVEN THEIR LIBERTY

Repp Lost All His Wealth When Robbed.—Is An Old Man And a Retired Blacksmith.

After being closely questioned, two young Kentuckians, who were taken from the 4 o'clock southbound interurban car here Tuesday evening on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of Ben Repp at Columbus Monday evening, were released.

The young men boarded the car at Columbus and numerous questions which they asked the conductor regarding the Repp holdup aroused the trainman's suspicions. At one of the stations north of Seymour he telephoned for Seymour officers to meet the car and take the men into custody.

In response to the message Officer Thompson went to the station to await the car while Officer Byrne caught it at the turn on east Second. The men were pointed out to Byrne and he at once took them in charge. While surprised, they made no resistance and when the car stopped they were taken to the city building and while not placed under arrest were closely questioned. They said they were enroute to their home in Junction City, Ky. from Columbus where they had been working. They satisfied the officers thoroughly as to their innocence and as they did not fill the descriptions of the men wanted as furnished by the Columbus officers, they were set at liberty.

There now seems little chance of capturing the pickpockets.

Ben Repp, the man who was robbed, is a retired blacksmith 86 years of age, and at the time he was held up was returning from a visit in Indianapolis. The $290 he lost, it is said was all the money he had. Contrary to the advice of his family he had been in the habit of carrying with him all of his wealth.

The four men who robbed him seemed to have spotted him in Indianapolis as a good victim for their work and they boarded the car there. One of them took a seat with him and succeeded in locating the old man's wallet before Columbus was reached.

BIG PURCHASE

Of Wool Made By the Seymour Woolen Factory Company.

The Franklin Star says:
M. J. Voris & Co., yesterday sold their wool purchases for the season of 1911 to the Seymour Woolen Factory Company.

The sale is one of the largest ever made by the local firm, as it aggregated over 35,000 pounds of wool, exceeding their best previous year, that of last season, by nearly 10,000 pounds.

To Strengthen Bridges.

An appropriation of $150,000 has been made by the officials of the B. & O. Southwestern railroad which will be used in strengthening the bridges along the line from Washington to St. Louis. They are weaker than those on the Indiana division and the heavy monkey motion engines, which weigh in the neighborhood of 115 tons, cannot be used on the Illinois division. The object in strengthening the bridges is to make them strong enough for the larger engines. Never, since the monkey motion engines have been in use on the Southwestern, have any of them been run on the Illinois division. It is expected that this work will be completed this fall.

PROPHET SMITH
DREW A CROWD

Head of Mormon Church Witness In Sugar Hearing.

MANY WOMEN WERE PRESENT

These Eyed the Old Boss Mormon Curiously as He Entered the Room and Crowded Closely Around Him as He Told the Story of the Relations of the Mormon Church With the Sugar Trust—Other Mormons Testify.

Washington, June 28.—At the hearing of the Hardwick sugar investigating committee Tuesday Joseph F.
Smith, venerable head of the Mormon church, was the principal witness. His presence attracted a larger crowd than had been seen in the committee room since the inquiry began. Many women were present. They eyed the prophet curiously as he entered the committee room, and crowded closely around as he told the story of the relations of the Mormon church with the sugar trust.

Prophet Joseph is seventy-three years old. He is tall, spare of figure, has keen blue eyes and, like the prophets of old, wears a beard that falls toward the waist line. He stepped briskly into the committee room and when called to the stand responded with a smile.

Six years ago Prophet Smith appeared before the senate committee on privileges and elections. At that time he spoke as a witness in behalf of Reed Smoot, an apostle of the church, whose right to occupy a seat in the senate was questioned. On that occasion the "first president" of the Mormon church told all about that organization and entered into a discussion of his domestic affairs, admitting that he had five wives and a good many children.

Several of the Mormon brethren accompanied the prophet at yesterday's hearing. There were Apostle Smoot, Bishops Charles N. Nibley and Thomas R. Cutler, Representative Joseph Howell, the only Mormon in the house, and
R. W. Young, a grandson of Brigham Young.

The "first president" proved a good witness. He expressed surprise when members of the committee gave the impression that the Mormon church is rolling in wealth, declaring that this was a mistaken notion—that they really had been in financial straits on several occasions and had had to borrow.
The prophet objected to having H. O.
Havemeyer characterized as "an industrial pirate," declaring that on the other hand he had been a benefactor to the Mormons.

Bishop Nibley followed the prophet on the stand. The bishop proved a jovial witness.

can falls, and then, circling back from Canada, he dipped at frightful speed into the gorge and sailed most beautifully under the giant arch of the upper steel bridge. Then he followed the gorge for a mile or more, and rising out of it he flew over Niagara Falls, Ont., and landed in the outskirts of the Canadian city safe and sound.
Thousands witnessed the spectacle.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever:
nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by

The War Fifty Years Ago

Border From Virginia to Missouri Becomes a Battle Line. Virginia Begins to Bear the Brunt --- Confederates Again Enter Harpers Ferry and Wreak Destruction. Lincoln Busy Preparing Message to Special Session Called For July 4---North and South Eager For War News---West Virginia Elects State Officers---McClellan Obsessed by His Own Personality---General Patterson Recalled by General Scott to Help Defend Washington.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON
[Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.]

THE events of June, 1861, cleared the atmosphere on both sides and made it plain that the nation was facing not a mere temporary insurrection, but a civil war, the length and severity of which no one could foresee. The peace talk was all but stifled. True, there were at this time some unofficial proposals of compromise made by southerners in Washington, one suggesting the recognition of the Confederacy, another stroyed a bridge at the New river. There had been several reports that the southern troops had evacuated Fairfax Court House, but if so it proved only a ruse, as they now lay entrenched near the town.

During this week President Lincoln was busy preparing his message to the extra session of congress which he had called to meet on July 4. There were wild rumors about Washington of plots to blow up the capitol building as soon as congress should convene. On June 21 Mrs. Lincoln, with her two sons, had a narrow escape in a car-rather fantastically planning the extension of 36 degrees 30 minutes to the Pacific and making this the dividing line between the two sections. These tenders of impossible peace agreements were hardly received seriously by any one, and northern papers even censured the administration for permitting them to be made at all.

The mind of the nation was now attuned to war. The life and drum were heard in all corners of the land. In every city and hamlet in both sections troops were being recruited, drilled and hurried to the front. From Virginia in the east to Missouri in the west the border had become a battle line. By her stand for neutrality Kentucky for a time turned aside the war tide from her own soil, but the respite was to prove brief.

The prediction that "poor old Virginia would have to bear the brunt of the battle" was already proving true. She had gone into the struggle reluctantly, as though dimly foreseeing the cost. By it she was to be torn asunder, losing nearly one-half of her territory, and the remnant was to become a military camp during four fearful years. Armies, the greatest the world had ever known, would struggle over her, desolating her towns and fields, turning her into a slaughter house, a hospital and a graveyard. She that had been the "mother of presidents," that had taken so historic a part in the first years of the republic, was to be historic still, but in how mournful a sense! She had chosen her bed, but her couch was to be one of thorns, and the thorns were the points of bayonets.

Some Important Movements.

In the week ending June 24 there were no battles worthy of the name, but several important movements. This was a breathing space after the fighting of June 17. In Missouri General Lyon rested at Booneville. On the 18th a skirmish occurred at Cole, near by, and a small Union force was surprised and driven out. Governor Jackson reappeared at St. Louis with 500 men, paroled some property and got away. There were attempts to pursue him, but without result. Three of the state officers returned to Jefferson City and took the oath of allegiance. General McClellan, who up to this time had been directing operations from Cincinnati, now went in person to Grafton and started the movement against the Confederates in the vicinity of Beverly. Colonel Lew Wallace, after winning the battle of Romney, withdrew to Cumberland, where he remained in a rather perilous situation for several weeks.

After General Patterson crossed the river at Williamsport, General Scott, in a fever of anxiety for the safety of the capital, wrote and telegraphed that the Pennsylvania commander send a part of his troops to Washington. Patterson complied, but, fearing he had not a large enough army to cope with Johnston, withdrew again into Maryland.

Emboldened by the fact that the Union troops did not occupy Harpers Ferry after the Confederates evacuated, a small force of insurgents wreaked further destruction there on June 20. At Martinsburg the Confederates destroyed forty-six locomotives and more than 300 coal cars and gondolas belonging to the Baltimore and Ohio. They also struck Piedmont and destroyed a bridge at the New river. There had been several reports that the southern troops had evacuated Fairfax Court House, but if so it proved only a ruse, as they now lay entrenched near the town.

During this week President Lincoln was busy preparing his message to the extra session of congress which he had called to meet on July 4. There were wild rumors about Washington of plots to blow up the capitol building as soon as congress should convene. On June 21 Mrs. Lincoln, with her two sons, had a narrow escape in a carriage accident while visiting the military camps on the Virginia side of the Potomac. The most important event of the week concerned western Virginia. On June 20, the very day that McClellan left Cincinnati for Grafton, the Wheeling convention elected a governor and other officers for what eventually became the new state of West Virginia.

There were skirmishes during the week near Leesburg and on the Rappahannock river. Washington announced the name of officers appointed to the newly created regiments of the regular army. Among the colonels selected were Sherman, Heintzelman and Fitz-John Porter.

On June 18 Professor Lowe, by use of light wires, successfully telegraphed from a war balloon, the first time it was ever done in America. This is a bare skeleton of events and is so dry that the bones rattle. It is a mere catalogue of deeds, each of which was of life and death interest. To comprehend them even dimly we must transport ourselves to an era that, though only fifty years removed, is so unlike our own as to be scarcely recognizable. We must see a nation every other home in which had a husband, a father or a brother at the front or preparing to go to the front. We must see a people—then two peoples—feverish in their anxiety, impatient in their zeal and played upon in turn by patriotism, anger, elation and despair. We must see them eager for every scrap of news, torn by a thousand wild rumors, fearing the loss of loved ones, the capture of their capital, the destruction of the nation itself. We must walk with Lincoln in the still nights back and forth through the silent White House or to the telegraph office and go with him through his days of conflicting advice and heart-breaking reports. All this and much more we must see and experience, and then we shall not be in halting distance of the realization. We must behold our own fathers, sons, brothers or husbands at the front, our own flag in peril, before we can even begin to understand.

It was the constant cry of the northern orators that not one star should be erased from the flag. Well, not one star was erased, although eleven were long hidden behind the smoke of war. Indeed, a new star was added, West Virginia being born as a direct result of the conflict.

West Virginia Born.

On June 20 fifty years ago the new state was taking form. On assembling in convention at Wheeling nine days earlier the delegates had taken the following oath: "We solemnly declare that we will support the constitution of the United States and the laws made in pursuance thereof as the supreme law of the land, anything in the ordinance of the convention that assembled in Richmond on the 13th day of February past to the contrary notwithstanding, so help us God."

On the 20th such progress had been made that a governor, a lieutenant and governor and council were elected and the governor inducted into office. The legislature of the new state met on July 2.

Francis Harrison Pierpont, the first governor of West Virginia, was a pronounced abolitionist. He was born in Virginia in 1814, educated at Allegheny college and began the practice of law at about the age of thirty. Western Virginia was not at once erected into a state, but at this time acted under the name of the "restored government of Virginia." Pierpont, on being elected governor by the Wheeling convention was recognized by President Lincoln. In the fall he was re-elected for the term of two years and again for four years. When the new state of West Virginia was created in 1863 Governor Pierpont removed his capital to Alexandria, opposite to Washington. At the fall of Richmond he again removed to this city and was governor of the entire state until 1865.

Side Lights on McClellan.

McClellan's army had now been operating in the vicinity of Grafton for about one month, winning the important victory of Philippi. The general himself had remained at his own headquarters until June 20, when he started for the front. In his book "McClellan's Own Story" he gives several quotations from letters written to his wife covering this time. As Greeley said, "They make mighty interesting reading," and throw a revealing light on one phase of McClellan's character. From Marietta June 21 he wrote:

"At every station where we stopped crowds had assembled to see the 'young general.' At Chillicothe the ladies had prepared a dinner, and I had to be trotted through. They gave me about twenty beautiful bouquets and almost killed me with kindness. I could hear them say, 'He is our own general, 'Look at him—how young he is!' 'He will thrash them,' 'He'll do,' etc., ad infinitum."

On June 23 he reached Grafton. A letter of that date contains the following characteristic extract: "Everything here needs the hand of the master and is getting it fast." Of a later date is this: "Unless where I am in person everything seems to go wrong. Here is another in kind: 'One thing takes up a great deal of time, yet I cannot avoid it—crowds of the country people who have heard of me and read my proclamations come in from all directions to thank me, shake me by the hand and look at their 'liberator,' 'the general.' Of course I have to see them and talk to them. Well, it is a proud and glorious thing to see a whole people here, simple and unsophisticated, looking up to me as their deliverer from tyranny."

It is well to study these passages, for we shall have much to do with General McClellan as the weeks go by. As a flash of lightning reveals a whole landscape, these seem to me to illuminate the cause of a whole chapter of misunderstandings in 1862. God help the man who thinks too much about his own personality. That man will have grievances. He will let self stand in the way of his work.

Patterson Recalled by Scott.

Let us turn to another picture. We have already seen the singing regiments of General Patterson wading the Potomac with the water up to their armpits. Once on Virginia soil they began the march from Williamsport to Harpers Ferry. The first intimation Patterson received of Johnston's evacuation of Harpers Ferry was a dispatch from General Scott asking as to his (Patterson's) intentions as to pursuing the enemy and adding that if he did not contemplate such pursuit to send a part of his army immediately to Washington, the capital being hard pressed. Two or three dispatches passed back and forth before Patterson complied, but at last he did so on receiving a peremptory order.

General Patterson, who had been a soldier in two wars, was bitterly criticised because he did not occupy Harpers Ferry or follow up and attack Johnston. All this he bore in silence, and it was not till later that the fact of his being commanded to send the flower of his troops to Washington came out. General Scott's motive can be understood, for Washington was in a state of nervous suspense, fearing an attack from Manassas. As to General Patterson's later failure to engage Johnston and thus keep that general from aiding Beauregard at Bull Run, John G. Nicolay is authority for the statement that the aged Union commander was eager to do so, but was dissuaded by his underofficers, Fitz-John Porter, Colonel George H. Thomas and others. This, however, is getting ahead of the story.

FRENCH MINISTRY IS READY FOR BUSINESS

Six Members Held Over From Monis Cabinet.

Paris, June 28.—The new French ministry has been formed. Six of the members of the new cabinet were members of the Monis cabinet. The cabinet is as follows: Premier and minister of the interior, Joseph Caillaux; justice, Jean Cruppi; marine, Theophile Delcasse; war, Adolphe Messimy; public instruction, Jules Joseph Steeg; agriculture, Jules Pams; finance, Louis Lucien Klotz; labor, Rene Renoult; foreign affairs, M. Deslives; public works, M. Augagneur; commerce, Charles Maurice Couyba; the colonies, Albert Francois Lebrun. Henri Du Jardin Beaumetz remains under secretary of fine arts.

METAL LET GO

Five Tons of Molten Iron Spilled Over Bodies of Molders.

Yonkers, N. Y., June 28.—As a huge ladle suspended from a crane and containing enough molten iron to cast a five-ton winding mill drum for a mine hoist was being emptied into a mold in the foundry of the Otis Elevator works last evening, gases in the metal combined and exploding blew a hole through the side of the ladle and scattered the contents on the men superintending operations. Nine of them were burned, two of them so badly that they will probably die. The clothes of some were burned from their bodies. Drops of metal sank into the flesh of the victims like melted maple sugar into snow.

THEN KILLED HIMSELF

West Virginian After Running Amuck Took His Own Life.

Richwood, W. Va., June 28.—Infuriated because of his son's alleged disobedience Granville Johns, aged 50, made an attempt upon the life of his son and daughter with a shotgun, accidentally killed R. T. Ulet, aged 25 years, a boarder at the house, and finally, when cornered upon the river bank about a mile from town, took his own life in full view of hundreds of people who were chasing him.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT MALARIAL POISONING

Malaria is a disease which gradually destroys the strong, nourishing elements of the blood. When the malarial poison begins to absorb the rich, red corpuscles of the circulation, we see pale, sallow complexions and a general impairment of health. As the blood becomes weaker the appetite fails, digestion is disturbed, chills and slight fever are frequent, and in aggravated cases boils and eruptions break out on the flesh. Malaria is blood poverty, and the only way to cure the trouble is to enrich and purify the circulation. Nothing is equal to S. S. S. as a blood purifier, and it is especially adapted to the cure of malarial troubles because it contains no harmful minerals, and while ridding the system of the malarial germs, S. S. S. builds up the entire constitution by its fine tonic effects. If you are suffering with Malaria begin the use of S. S. S. and rid yourself of this weakening disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write and request it. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

OLYMPIC, SEA'S BIGGEST SHIP, SHOWS PROGRESS MADE IN 92 YEARS

First Transatlantic Liner Was 350 Tons—Olympic Is 45,000

Time of Passage Steadily Cut Down—Features of Floating Hotel

THE new White Star liner Olympic, which recently arrived at New York on her maiden trip, is the sea's biggest ship. At most 900 feet in length, she exceeds in length by nearly 100 feet the swift Cunard Mauretania, which, in turn, is a few feet longer than her sister ship, the Lusitania. The Olympic, however, has not the speed of the Cunarders, the object of her builders having been to combine a fair speed with the greatest possible space and luxury for passengers.

The Mauretania's record is 4 days 10 hours and 41 minutes between Queenstown and New York, while the Olympic's is 5 days 16 hours and 42 minutes from Southampton.

Many new features have been embodied in the construction of the later is bad, thus giving a dry and windless walking place at all stages of the game. This is a new feature, as the Adriatic, Rotterdam and other liners boast of the storm deck.

In all there are 350 first class rooms, 100 of them being for a single occupant only.

On the bridge and shelter decks there are no fewer than sixty-nine suits, decorated in various styles, such as empire, Louis XV., Georgian, Queen Anne and Dutch. These suits are sumptuous and in price range from $1,200 to $2,150. They include a bedroom, sitting room and bath and in some cases a small dining room and trunk room.

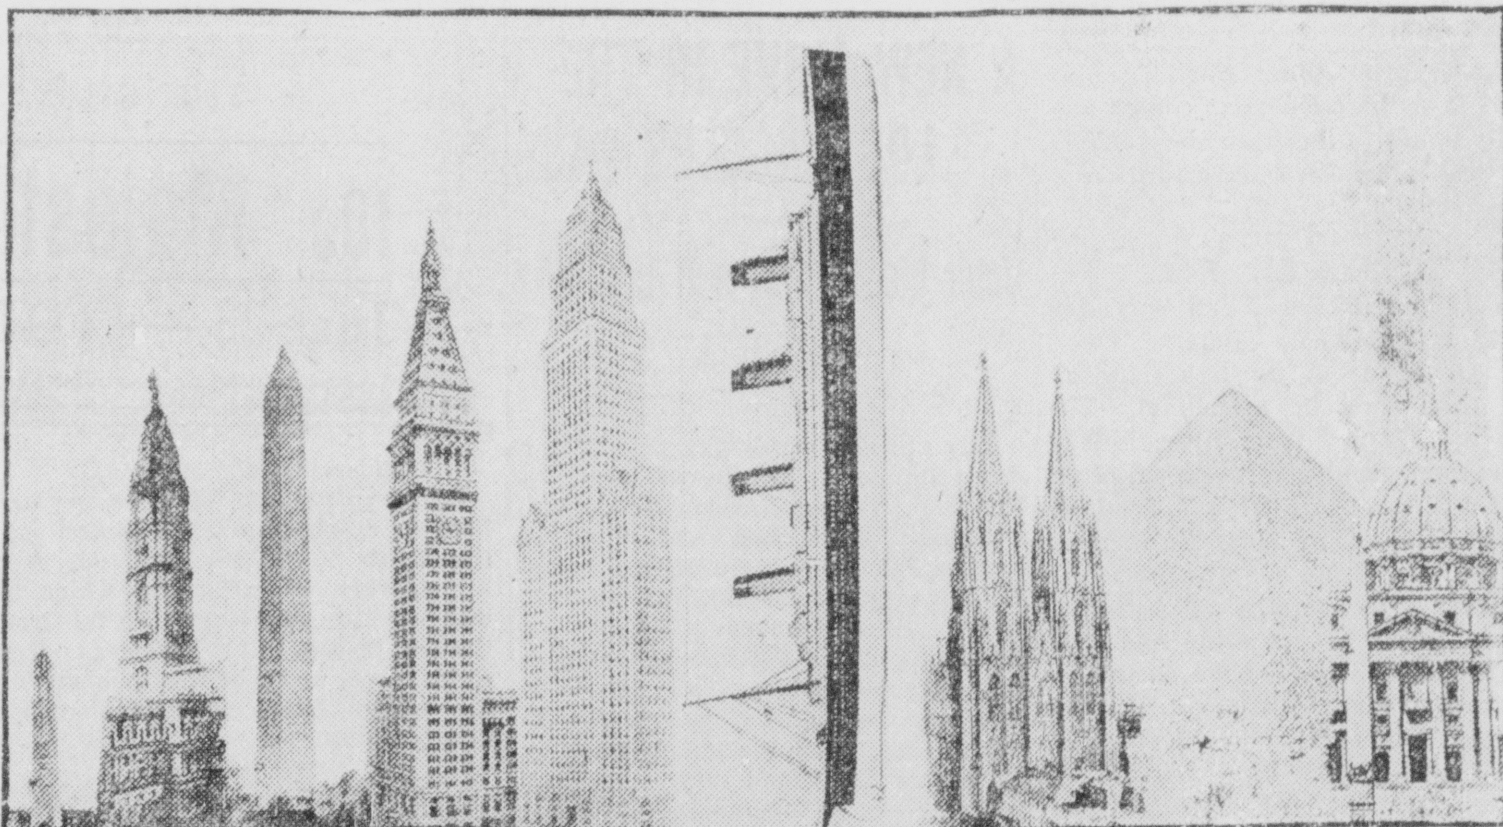

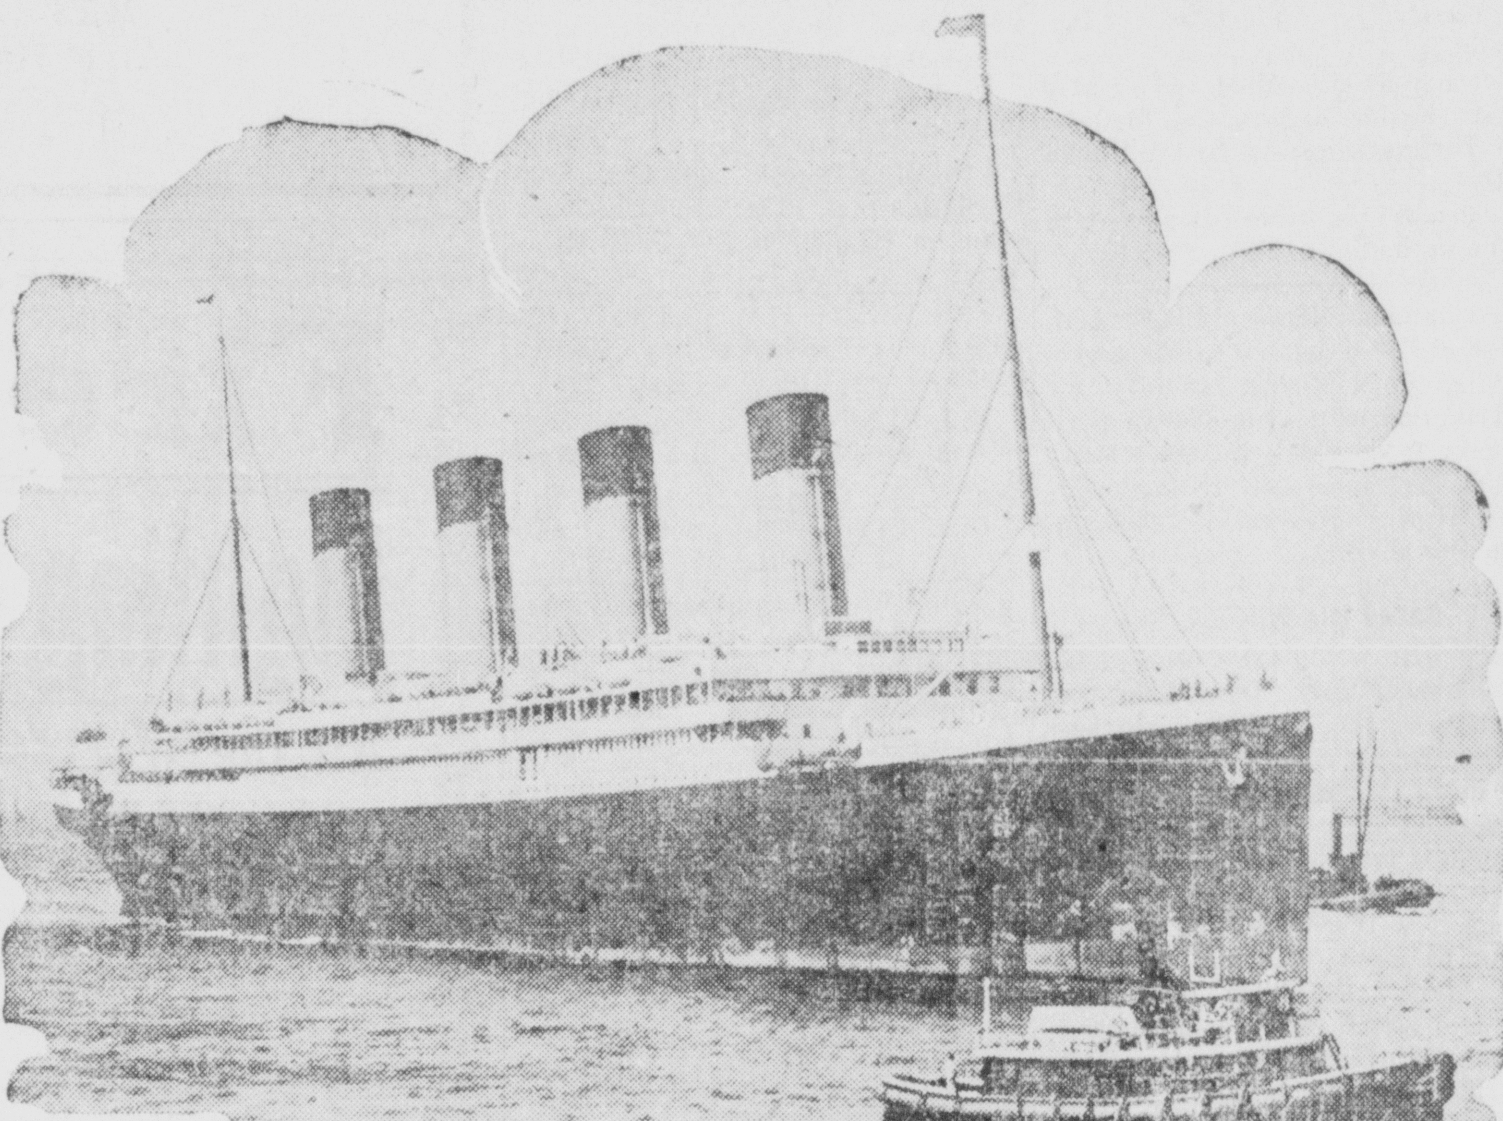

The full complement of the Olympic will be about 3,700 persons, the total number being made up as follows: Six hundred and fifty first class pas-

1847. Her life as one of the men-of-war was short, for after making one round trip she was sold to the Prussian government as a steam frigate.

Between 1847 and 1850 an English ship was launched, the Great Britain, which marked an epoch in ocean going ships. She was designed by Brunel, the great engineer of the time, and marked a new departure in being the first of the iron steamships. Before her time all hulls had been of wood. Also Brunel demonstrated the efficiency of the screw propeller and replaced the paddle wheels with screws. She was 322 feet long, 51 feet wide and drew 32 feet. She made her first trip in fifteen days at the average speed of 9 knots an hour.

At this time Samuel Cunard left Halifax, N. S., and went to Liverpool. There he met George Burns and David MacIver, forming with them the present Cunard line. Four ships were built. The Britannia, 207 feet long and 32 feet broad, was the first of the four. She left Liverpool on July 4, 1840, and came into Boston harbor July 19 amid great rejoicing. In 1844 the merchants cut a channel in the ice for the Britannia to leave the harbor.

In 1847 the Britannia won a transatlantic race against an American boat called the Washington. Great enthusiasm was roused over the issue, and immediately after this event a company was formed headed by E. K. Collins. Four ships were built, and in 1851 the Pacific crossed the ocean

The picture shows how the Olympic compares with great American and European structures. At the left is the Bunker Hill monument, and then in order come the Philadelphia city hall, the Washington monument, the Metropolitan building, New York; the projected Woolworth building, New York; the Olympic, the Cologne cathedral, the Great pyramid in Egypt and St. Paul's cathedral, London.

sengers, 500 second class and 1,500 third. The officers and deck crew number 263, the engine room complement is 322 and the stewards' department 471.

First Transatlantic Liner.

The first steam equipped vessel crossed the Atlantic ocean nearly a hundred years ago. In 1819 William Scarborough, ignoring the criticism of an unbelieving public, started a small craft, the Savannah, of about 350 tons, from the town for which she was named for Liverpool. Before alteration she was a sailing packet built on the East river, in New York. Scarborough installed engines and fitted her with a pair of ingeniously arranged paddle wheels constructed in such a way that during heavy weather they could be shipped aboard out of harm's way. After a good voyage of twenty-eight days, lasting from May 22 to June 20, she dropped anchor in the Mersey. She had used her engines for eighty hours during the trip. Her fuel consisted of seventy tons of coal and twenty-five cords of wood.

In 1833 a Canadian boat, the Royal William, made the transatlantic trip with steam power alone. Then came the United States, an American boat 250 feet long and 50 feet wide, drawing 30 feet. She cut down the time of passage to thirteen days. This was in est and greatest floating hotel. There is a swimming pool, squash court, tennis court and a Turkish bath and even a deck golf course on the top deck.

The new ship has eleven decks, two more than that tall ship the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria. There are three passenger lifts or elevators in the first class and one in the second class. The bridge deck promenade is 550 feet long, and this gives a good idea of the huge scale that the vessel is built on. Five times around is more than a mile walk. The main dining saloon, which runs the width of the ship, is over 90 feet broad by 114 feet long and seats 532 persons. Its interior decoration is done in the style of the early seventeenth century. There is also an "a la carte" restaurant decorated in the style of Louis XVI.

Suits as High as $2,150.

The other public rooms are all grouped on the promenade deck and include a writing room forty-one feet square, a lounge in Louis XV. style, 63 by 59 feet, and a smoking room, 65 by 61 feet. The swimming pool is 32 by 13 feet in size and the squash court 30 feet long, extending through two decks.

The palm court and veranda cafe are situated aft on the upper promenade. The lower promenade deck may be inclosed in glass if the weather from New York to Liverpool in four hours less than ten days. This record was afterward beaten by the Arctic, a sister ship, which lowered the time some hours. The Collins line's record was brilliant while it lasted, but both the Pacific and the Arctic were lost at sea with all on board some time later.

The Great Eastern.

An English syndicate called on Mr. Brunel for a ship which would be able to make the trip to Australia and back at an average speed of 18 knots an hour. Out of this grew the commercial failure, the Great Eastern. She was 680 feet long and 83 feet wide. Paddle wheels and screw propellers were her means of propulsion, and while she proved to be a white elephant commercially she did the world a great service by laying the first Atlantic cable and later two others. In 1888 she was broken up and sold for old iron.

In 1855 the Vanderbilt of 3,360 tons was launched and on her first trip eastward cut the time again to nine days and eight and a half hours. Then in 1889 the City of Paris of the Inman line lowered the record again by crossing in five and a half days. The year 1896 saw the Cunard liners lower it again to five and a quarter days, and now we have the four day wonders, the Mauretania and Lusitania.

TRADE IS ON THE INCREASE.

Advance in Prosperity Remarkable in Porto Rico.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS GAIN

Agricultural and Industrial Pursuits in Better Shape Today Than Ever Before—Eradication of Hookworm Has Wholesome Effect.

A remarkable advance in the prosperity of Porto Rico is shown in a report of the agricultural experiment station on the island, just published by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. The total trade of the island, exports and imports, in 1901 was $17,500,000. This increased in 1910 to $68,600,000. It is stated that this expanding trade has greatly affected not only all the industries of the island, but has materially increased the living standard.

The whole prosperity of the island, says the report, is founded on the soil and climate. The natural resources have long ago been exhausted by a population that is thicker than that of any state in the Union except two. The gold mining which was a natural resource has dwindled to nothing. The population, in spite of being dense, is scattered over the island rather than centered in the towns. Therefore the agricultural population is large, and the material prosperity of the people depends on the soil.

Big Exports of Sugar.

The exports of the island in 1910 totaled $37,960,219. Of this $24,000,000 was in sugar and molasses. The sugar crop has always been one of the chief reliances of the people, and the flat strip of land around the seacoast has been devoted to sugar culture. Since the American occupation of the island the sugar industry has made phenomenal growth, and future expansion must be by methods of more intensive cultivation. The industry is so paying that the planters want to raise sugar all the time, and this is depreciated by the department, which is trying to inaugurate a system of crop rotation as being a better and more conservative system for the soil.

While the exports of coffee from the island last year were $5,695,602, there was less than $22,000 worth of it sold in the United States. This is said to be due to the fact that the coffee is a very high grade black coffee, such as is used largely abroad for after dinner coffee and for which there is a comparatively small demand here.

Much Tobacco Sent Out.

Tobacco and its manufactures were exported to the amount of $5,763,214. There also has been a large increase in the shipments of fruit. The exports of wild oranges five years ago amounted to $125,311, and last year the fruit exports totaled $1,416,947, of which oranges made up $582,716.

The most curious result of prosperity has been that the live stock exports which a few years ago were three or four hundred thousand dollars, have stopped entirely. The island is now a large importer of not only all sorts of live stock, but of dressed and cured meats. The price of horses and all sorts of work animals has advanced materially, and the people are eating so much more meat than they are raising that meat has to be imported.

The general condition of the people is much better than formerly, largely in response to the eradication of the hookworm, while the soil has been made to respond more freely to improved methods of culture.

HER LIFE STORY IN VERSE.

Mrs. Kidder Writes 130 Stanzas to Celebrate Her Ninety-fifth Birthday.

Mrs. Harriet S. Kidder celebrated her ninety-fifth birthday recently at her home in Asbury Park, N. J. A feature of an entertainment she had planned for an hundred or more friends who spent the afternoon with her was the reading of a poem that she had written and copied on a typewriter. The poem dealt with events in her life and contained 130 stanzas. Mrs. Kidder learned to use the typewriter when she was ninety. She sought the machine when failing eyesight prevented her from writing with a pen without running her lines together. She can scarcely see now, but in five years she has mastered the keyboard.

Mrs. Kidder has lived under every United States president except Washington, Jefferson and Adams. She was in Paris when Napoleon III. was crowned and in England in the early part of Queen Victoria's reign.

EGG DIET FOR DOGS.

Miss Crocker Corners the Market—No Meat For Her Pets.

Miss Jennie S. Crocker of San Francisco and her staff of veterinarians cornered the egg market so as to properly feed her Boston terriers and French bulls in her $100,000 kennels. Each dog is given at least two eggs daily. This demand drained the egg market.

The society girl believes that she can keep her prized dogs healthy and beautiful by feeding them on eggs in place of meat. The egg diet is entirely unknown to veterinarians, who are watching her experiment with interest.

TWO LYNCHINGS STIR GEORGIANS

Legislature to Investigate Official Dereliction.

GOVERNOR BROWN CRITICISED

Failure to Provide Troops to Protect Suspected Negroes Is Laid by the Governor at Doors of Local Judge and Sheriff—These Officers Refuse to Accept the Responsibility, Each Blaming the Other.

Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—Two negroes, Tom Allen and Joe Watts, were lynched in Walton county because Governor J. M. Brown, Judge Charles H. Brand and Sheriff Stark refused to use the troops to protect them. Governor Brown disclaims responsibility and puts the matter up to Judge Brand and Sheriff Stark. The sheriff says Judge Brand is responsible. At any event, because of the refusal of the three officials to act, the mob claimed two lives and a legislative probe seems certain to follow.

Tom Allen was the first victim of the mob. The negro was accused of outraging a white woman near Monroe, Walton county, about six weeks ago and was brought to Atlanta for safe keeping. Three weeks ago the negro was taken from Atlanta to Monroe, guarded by troops, to be tried. Judge Brand resented the presence of troops and postponed the trial, and the negro was returned to Atlanta. Two days ago Judge Brand gave orders for the man to be taken to Monroe for trial. It was known that the citizens had organized to lynch the negro, and Governor Brown asked Brand if he wanted troops at the trial. The judge returned an evasive answer and referred the governor to Sheriff Stark. The latter said that Judge Brand would have to ask for troops. No one asked and the negro was sent to Walton county in charge of two officers. As the train neared Social Circle it was stopped by a mob, the negro taken off, tied to a telegraph pole and shot to pieces, the passengers on the train looking on.

Mob Boldly Enters Town.

The mob, several hundred strong and unmasked, then marched to Monroe, about six miles away, where John Watts, a negro, held on suspicion of being Tom Allen's accomplice, was confined in jail. The mob boldly entered Monroe and proceeded to the jail, stormed it, took out the negro, hanged him to a tree and shot him to pieces.

Both of the negroes denied that they were guilty to the very last, and there seems to have been no strong evidence against them. The tragedy involving as it does Governor Brown, Judge Brand and Sheriff Stark, has created a sensation and the members of the legislature, which convened today, say they will institute an investigation and probable impeachment proceedings. It is charged that Judge Brand, resenting the fact that Governor Brown sent troops with Tom Allen when he was taken to Monroe some time ago, postponed the trial because he (Brand) said he did not want trouble about his court. On that occasion Judge Brand addressed the citizens of Monroe and intimated that it was a reflection on them to send troops to protect the negro.

Two months ago a negro was lynched at Lawrenceville, Judge Brand's home town, for an alleged outrage on a white woman. On that occasion Judge Brand also refused to ask for troops, although urged to do so, saying there was no danger. Two hours later the negro was lynched.

There were bets of 100 to 1 in Atlanta when it was learned that Tom Allen was being taken to Monroe without troops that he would be lynched before noon. The men who gave the odds won easily.

Two Deaths Over Stolen Cherries.

Cleveland, O., June 28.—John Decker, a Lyndale farmer, was perhaps fatally wounded and a negro believed to have been John Jordan of Columbus, an ex-convict, was killed in a running gun fight from Decker's fruit farm, where the negro had been caught in a cherry tree.

A woman whose identity has not been disclosed lost a necklace of pearls valued at $75,000 at King George's gala performance at Covent Garden.

LITTLE PROSPECT OF AN EARLY AGREEMENT

Reciprocity Situation In Senate Badly Muddled.

Washington, June 28.—The situation in the senate as regards Canadian reciprocity is still badly muddled and there is no prospect of getting things straightened out until the Republican insurgents have laid all their cards on the table, and it is known just what they propose in the way of tariff revision. In the meantime, however, evidence is accumulating of a desire on the part of the regular Republicans and the Democrats to work together toward securing votes on the reciprocity, farmers' free list and Underwood wool revision bills in the latter part of July, and bringing the special session to an end early in August.

The regular Republicans want a vote on reciprocity and no tariff revision; the Democrats want reciprocity and their own tariff reform measures, and the insurgents want neither reciprocity nor the Democratic tariff bills, but measures of their own making. There you have the situation as it exists in the senate at present, and it requires a mighty powerful pair of spyglasses to locate any immediate prospect of an agreement.

Cornell's Good Work.
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28.—Cornell won one of the most sensational eight-oared boat races ever rowed in this country at the regatta yesterday afternoon. The Ithacans won by almost a length and a half, Columbia having four lengths over Pennsylvania. Wisconsin was only a few feet behind the Quakers, with Syracuse many lengths away.

VALUABLE ADVICE

Seymour Citizens Should Profit by The Following Statement.

Doan's Kidney Pills cured this Seymour resident.

Their merit was shown—the story told.

Now comes further evidence.

The testimony is confirmed.

The remedy was tested—the cure lasted.

Could Seymour residents demand stronger proof?

It's Seymour testimony. It can be investigated.

Mrs. Lydia Owens, 426 Jackson St., Seymour, Ind., says: "Several years ago I had pains in the small of my back and was also subject to headaches. My kidneys were badly disordered and I attributed by trouble to the failure of the kidneys to do their work properly. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I immediately procured a supply and their use corrected my trouble. I know of other people who have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and praise them as highly as I do." (Statement given in 1906.)

NO TROUBLE SINCE.

On April 14, 1910, Mrs. Owens was interviewed and she said: "During the years that have passed since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me, I have been entirely free from kidney trouble. I am constantly recommending this remedy."

Saved His Wife's Life.

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by The Andrews Drug Co.

The Columbus Herald says that Treasurer Roup of that county while at the state auditor's office Tuesday noted that "Bartholomew county annually hands to the state about $255,000, while Jackson county turns over only $180,000."

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at The Andrews Drug Co.

Mrs. Harry Shirley of Shoals, who has been a patient in the Schneek hospital for the past six weeks, was able to leave this morning and was taken to North Vernon to visit her sister, Mrs. Charles Greer.

A NEW MOVE IN THE
LOS ANGELES CASE

Ortie McManigal and His Wife
Disagree.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 28.—Yesterday afternoon, in the investigation of the Times explosion, Ortie McManigal, confessed dynamiter and informer against J. J. McNamara and his brother, James B. McNamara, was led back to his cell in the county jail with tears streaming down his cheeks, while a physician worked over his wife, who had swooned during an ordeal to which she was subjected in an ante-room near the grand jury.

The tears of McManigal and the collapse of his wife were the sequel of an unexpected meeting in the ante-room—unexpected so far as the principals were concerned, but carefully planned by the prosecution to thwart the scheme of the defense to win over McManigal through the pleas of his wife. McManigal was taken to the ante-room without the knowledge of the defense, and when Mrs. McManigal was called it was supposed she was to go before the grand jury. Instead she was taken into the ante-room. There began a bombardment of questions, McManigal adding his appeal that Mrs. McManigal tell everything, to those made by the detectives, but Mrs. McManigal would say nothing.

When she swooned Dr. Lowell was hastily called and worked over her some time before she revived. As she staggered out of the room she almost fell into the arms of Attorney Clarence Darrow, exclaiming weakly, "I stood pat."

The defense is angry over the incident, alleging the prosecution subjected Mrs. McManigal to "third degree" methods of the worst kind. The prosecution answers that its sole purpose was to obtain admissions from Mrs. McManigal that the story her husband has related is true. It is asserted by the prosecution that McManigal went to the ante-room where his wife met him, affirming his statements were true and seeking corroboration on her part of happenings within her knowledge.
